NOT GOOD ILLUSTRATIONS.

Two notable men have recently died, neither of whom were good illustrations of their own doctrines Dr Hall for many years published a journal of health in which he instructed people how to live so as to preserve health and attain long life Hall's Journal of Health had a large circulation It put out facts in a short, crispy dogmatic sort of a way which were quoted all over the country And yet Dr Hall continually violated his own precepts While he was lecturing the people on a right way of living he was living in a wrong way—that is he was overtaxing his own powers by extra work and was really a kind of intemperate worker who brought his own life to a close at least twenty years sooner than it should have ended It is remarkable that nearly all the men who have written on health and sanitary matters, have in one way or another violated the very rules of living which they have prescribed for other people The brown bread hydropathic and gymnastic disciples don't seem to make much more out of life than people who have no hobbies

Then there was Dr George B Windship, the strongest man in the world, who could lift something over twenty-five hundred pounds He was the advocate of physical development; and he certainly did a great deal in that way for the world But he died a middle aged man We have among other memoranda this view of his life But while he may be remembered as a powerful gymnast, possibly only as such Dr Windship had higher purposes in his profession He early directed his attention to the securing of perfect health by a full development of all parts of the body As he used to say when a medical student I will understand these drugs and know their use, but I will cure and keep health with less and less of them' Prescribing, perhaps, a few lifts of a seven pound dumb bell in the morning to some new comer patient who had been drenched with physic, he would produce in a few weeks a strong man laughing with health A list of his accomplishments by this treatment would be a grand monument to his memory, and in the use of this mode he was the pioneer He lectured on his system in different parts of the States, exhibiting his strength

Among the first to be attracted to the doctor's system was Edwin Forrest The great actor was a friend and occasional patient of Geo B Windship's father In his calls upon the father Mr. Forrest witnessed the feats of his son, and inspected his contrivances for lifting Their originality, the lad's patient persistence and intelligent reasoning on the matter of what he meant to accomplish by those simple exercises, greatly attracted the artist Their acquaintance and mutual interest were life long.'

It is only fair to state that Dr Windship inherited a frail constitution But when he came to be the strongest man in the world, we naturally associated this strength with longevity Extreme physical development does not after all tell in favor of longevity It is rather a temperate life which avoids all extremes

Nor does it yet appear that any great good will be attained by the boating gymnasts. They get the extreme of one kind of muscular development. But all beyond a moderate training may be set down on the side of excess, which cannot be good in any case The boating gymnasts will have their day But the crew which sends a skeleton boat past the goal two minutes ahead of a rival may not live longer or accomplish more in this world than the average man who never has been put under any such physical strain.

CURIOUS FINANCIAL PHASES.

When it was proposed to issue the 4½ per cent. United States Bonds, the question was raised whether it would be possible to substitute them for the outstanding bonds bearing a higher rate of interest. But recently the National Banks have given notice to the Treasury that they intend to substitute the 4½ per cents for the bonds now held by the Department as security for circulation On a single day the banks of New York withdrew $600,000 of 5 per cents funded loan held to secure bank circulation, and 4½ per cents were substituted. And this change is going on from day to day. This step is taken under the provision of the law which expressly authorizes the issue of circulation at the rate of 90 per cent. of the market value of bonds bearing [illegible] than 5 per cent. interest, [illegible] rate of only 90 per cent. [illegible] value of bonds bearing [illegible] per cent. interest. [illegible] the best authorities on finance, further explains the matter "When the law was passed, 6 per cents were bringing less than par, and it was thought to be only a prudent safeguard to provide that circulation should be issued on bonds bearing less interest than 5 per cent at 90 per cent of their value, not of their face Evidently, the framers of the law expected that no bond of the United States bearing less than 5 per cent interest could ever be sold at par They were wrong, and very important results are likely to flow from their error At the present price of bonds, banks that have 6 per cent bonds deposited to secure their circulation can sell them, put 5½ per cents in their place, and pocket about $18,000 for every $90,000 of their circulation Where 5 per cent bonds are deposited, the premiums they can secure will be about $15,000 to every $90,000 of circulation This can be done without diminishing the circulation or the security. It thus could be done by all the banks, without deranging the bond market, the bonds securing the present $325,000,000 of bank circulation would be speedily replaced by 4½ per cents, at a profit to the banks of about $54,000,000 The bankers have evidently made a point, and they are not slow to take advantage of it For ought we can see they have the case on their side, and while helping themselves, are helping the Government to call in high interest bearing bonds and substitute lower ones

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

It is an ill wind says an ancient and gusty saw that blows no one good Similarly, it may be said, that it is a great improvement which does no harm The blowing up of Hell Gate may remove an obstruction to navigation, but, unless the Lord is mindful of the simple faith of an elderly darkey resident of the immediate neighborhood, the chicken crop is likely to suffer thereby Says the venerable Ethiopian ' Dar's one ting I'm fraid of do I've got an ole hen settin' on fo'teen eggs just round de corner ob de fence dar an I specks de concushun 'll kill ebery blessed one ob dem unborn chick'ns for shuah But I'll trus in de Lord, for he tempers de win' to de young chick'n '

This story is told and vouched for by a well known Boston auctioneer A year or more ago, the auctioneer had for sale a large lot of homeopathic pellets When the sale occurred, all those medicines were dumped into one pile, and disposed of in one lot there being various kinds of medicine in the mass A boarding house keeper bought the lot and some days after the purchase the auctioneer asked her, What did you want with that homeopathic medicine?' She replied, 'I thought I could use it, and it was cheap, so I crushed it under the roller and then filled my sugar-bowls with it The boarders seemed to like it and especially when powdered over pies '

A well informed Indiana Republican makes the following statement to the Boston Journal The Republicans of the State are most thoroughly organized, and they are are conducting the canvass in the most efficient manner and with perfect confidence of success He is confident that if the election was to be held to-day Mr Harrison would be elected by 20,000 He says we have no idea here of the enthusiasm which prevails there Mr Harrison, the Republican candidate is a self made man, a true hearted Christian gentleman, whom all who know respect and love, and who draws people to him wherever he goes The contrast between him and his opponent Blue Jeans Williams," is so marked that even many of the intelligent Democrats feel it and will not support Williams

One of the greatest representative members of the editorial profession in Europe arrived in New York Thursday in the 'Bremen.' We refer to John Walter, M P, principal owner of the London Times—"the Thunderer"—and inventor of the Walter press Mr Walter is the oldest son of the late John Walter, and succeeded him in the management of the Times, as the father had succeeded his father, the founder of the great journal The name John Walter has been preserved from grandfather to grandson John Walter the second was the first man who applied the use of steam to the running of a printing press As a boy the present John Walter was sent to the press room of his father's establishment, and there became an expert in mechanics and engineering The result was his perfection of the celebrated Walter printing press

The correspondent of the New York World who is traveling with Lord Dufferin on his Western journey, tells of the effect of a North Pacific gale on the passengers aboard of his lordship's vessel, bound for Victoria. "There was a Spanish-American lady with her dog, her bird and her golden wig I paused at her window and condoled with her as she lay prostrate 'I am veree bad,' said she My stomach—it feel like a butterfly 'Like a butterfly?' 'Si So light Dios I jump into the sea' A pretty bride occupied another stateroom She reclined in her berth bracing herself with one hand and holding in the other a slice of toast On the sofa near the window lay her husband, pale as paper 'How goes the honeymoon?' I inquired with sea-sick impertinence? 'Alas!' exclaiming the little lady, touching her chest and then motioning toward the disconsolate groom, How happy could I be with either, were t other dear charmer away ' "

Hon. Timothy Guy Phelps' Address Last Evening.

A Stirring Speech and Large Assemblage of Republicans.

A Republican mass meeting was held at the tent on Fourteenth street, last evening, to listen to a ringing speech deliverered by Hon. Timothy Guy Phelps. Every available seat in the tent was occupied by ladies and gentlemen, and hundreds were glad to obtain even standing room. A. W. Collins, Secretary of the County Committee, called the meeting to order, and on motion, Mr. S. P. Daniels was elected Chairman, and the following gentlemen were unanimously elected Vice-Presidents and Secretaries of the meeting: Vice Presidents—W. W. Crane, Jr., E. C. Sessions, L. L. Alexander, J. G. McCallum, H. Cordes, Hiram Tubbs, J. P. Harmon, J. F. W. Sohst and C. Brier. Secretaries—W. H. Friend and D. C. Sullivan.

MR. PHELPS' SPEECH.

Mr. Phelps began his address by stating that the time has almost arrived when the sovereign people in their might and majesty will be called upon to elect candidates for the highest offices within their gift, and we are now met to dispassionately discuss the principles involved, and to determine so far as in us lies who are the proper persons into whose hands the government of this Nation should be entrusted. I will try on this evening to treat all questions honestly and fairly. I believe our Union to be suspended in the balance—to tip the beam one way is to elevate us in the scale, and to lower it on the other hand, is to degrade us in the eyes of the civilized world. I am for brotherly amnity and civil rights for all. Never in my judgment has there been such a momentous crisis since 1864. The same elements which warred against the Republican party then are opposed to it now, and they have received accessions since.

GOVERNOR IRWIN'S TRIBUTE TO THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

We will take, said the speaker, a retrospective glance at the history of the Republican party, but not for the purpose of flaunting the bloody shirt. Governor Irwin, the Democratic Chief Magistrate of this State, declared in a public speech that the preservation of the Union was owing to the Republican party. And he was right. That the Republican party had erred, the speaker freely admitted. To err is human, and the Republicans no more than other men are above the frailties of humanity. But never in the history of the race has a party achieved triumphs and more glorious results than the Republican party at this day. The speaker then dwelt on the magnanimity displayed by the party—a free forgiveness for all their enemies; and then proceeded to caustically rebuked the rebels for their ingratitude. And when their Confederates in Congress were hurling denunciations on the Union party, and advocating and passing extreme rebel measures, telegrams like snowflakes fell upon them saying that they were injuring their own cause. If the Republican party has made mistakes they have been owing to their boundless patriotism, and their unbounded magnamity (applause). Among the poor rebels who had accepted the issues of the war and given in their adherence to the Union was general Longstreet, and yet he was virtually ostracised and tabooed by his rampant rebel brethren whom he had led in many a hard fought battle. The magnanmity of the administration was further exemplified in the famous remark of Lincoln, when he said after the surrender of Lee, "Let the boys have their horses, they will need them to get home with." And yet in less than 30 days thereafter, our revered President was shot down by an assassin.

THE HAMBURG MASSACRE.

The speaker denounced the Hamburg massacre, saying that it was a burning shame, particularly to a civilized country, over which floats the flag of liberty. And the speaker challenged contradiction in his statement that in no State of Democratic rule in the South had any one of the perpetrators of these atrocities been convicted. The startling announcement had been made that in Texas alone 1,000 political murders had been perpetrated. And yet Mr. Hendricks says all is serene in the South since it has been under Democratic sway. And here the speaker made a telling hit. The wolves in the sheeps fold never complain, but the lambs may; and that's the way with the Hendricks crowd. Robert Toombs and his infamous career came in for a share of the speaker's anathemas. But vile as his statements are he is to be accredited with truth.

DEMOCRATIC REFORM.

The speaker depreciated extravagances in every department of the government. But there was a vast difference between honest economy and dishonest parsimony. The Democrats can't deceive the Republicans with their boasted cry of "reform!" They havn't saved the country a single cent. Their "reform" consists of a re-forming of the rebel lines, and a defense of those principles in the advocacy of which they were compelled to lay down their arms. Democratic so-called principles are the same now as they were then. We cannot and will not trust these men with power. (Loud applause.)

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Mr. Phelps thoroughly ventilated the greenback question, and showed how beautifully Secretary Chase came to the rescue; and with Lincoln's call for more troops came back the cheering response, "We are coming Father Abraham 100,000 more." And the troops and the greenbacks saved the country. And yet Indiana with Hendricks, wants soft currency, while Tilden must have hard money. And the Republican party as a unit, wants to go down to a specie paying basis as speedily as possible.

In conclusion Mr. Phelps eulogized President Grant and the Republican administration, and paid a just tribute to Congressman Page. His remarks were frequently applauded to the echo.

The Second Indian Conference Speech by Spotted Tail.

THE TREATY CONCLUDED.

The Second Conference With the Indians—Speech by Spotted Tail.

SPOTTED AGENCY, Neb., Sept. 22d.,}
Via SIDNEY, Sept. 26th.}

The first Council with the Sioux and Spotted Tail Agency, with a full commission, was held this afternoon. Colonel Boone as Chairman, said: "My friends, seven days since we sent down some propositions to you that were submitted to the people at Red Cloud. We have come now to hear your answer and decision.

Spotted Tail said: "We have come here to meet you, my friend. I have considered the word you brought us from the Great Father, and I have made up my mind. This is the fifth time words have come to us from the Great Father. At the time the first treaty was made on Horse Creek there was a provision made to borrow the overland road of the Indians, and though I was a boy then, they told me the promises were made to last fifty years. These promises have not been kept. The next conference we had was held with General ManyDeer (?), hewn there were no promises made, but we made friends and shook hands. Then there was the treaty made by General Sherman, General Sanborn and General Harney, when we were told we should have annuities and goods for 35 years. They said this, but didn't tell the truth. At that time General Sherman told me the country was mine, and I should select any place I wished for my Reservation. I said I would take the country from the head of the White river to the Missouri. He said they would give us cows to raise cattle; mares to raise horses, and oxen and wagons to haul logs with, and to haul goods and earn money that way. He said also there should be issues of such things as we needed to learn the arts with, and besides that, money to every one. He told each of us should have $15 for an annuity, but I told them that was a bad amount: that we didn't understand money, and that it should be $40 to each of us, and he assented to that. They told me these things should be carried out, and for me to go to the mouth of the Whetstone river and call my people, and these things should be fulfilled to me; but it was not true. When these promises failed to be carried out, I went myself to see the Great Father, and went into his house, and told him these things. The Great Father told me to go home, select my place in my country I chose for my home and go there and live with my people. I came home, selected this place and moved here. They told me if I should move here I should receive the fulfillment of the promise made me, but all that I got was some very small cows and some old wagons that were worn out. Again, last summer, you came to talk about the country and we said we would consider the matter. We said we would leave it to the Great Father for him to settle. In reply to that he has sent you out this summer. You have come to visit our land, and we ask you how many years there are for us to live. My friends, you who sit before me are traders, are merchants. You have come here to trade; you have not come here to turn anything out of the way without payment for it. When a man has a possession that he values and another party comes to buy it, he brings with him such goods and things as he wishes to purchase it with. My friends, your people have both intellect and heart. Use these to consider in what way you do the best to live. My people who are here before me and you are precisely the same. I see that my friends before me are men of age and dignity, and men of that kind have good judgment and consider well what they do. I infer from that that you are here to consider well what should be good for my people for a long time to come. I think each of you has selected somewhere a good piece of land for himself, with the intention to live on it that he may there raise his children. My people are not different. They also live upon the earth and upon the things that come therefrom. We have the same thoughts and desires that white people have. This is the country where they were born, where they have acquired all their property, their children and their horses. You have come here to buy this country of us, and it would be well if you came with the goods you propose to give us, and to put them out in your hand so we can see the good price you propose to pay for it. Then our hearts would be glad. My people have grown up together with these white men who have married into our tribe. A great many of us have learned to speak their language and their children are with ours in our school, and we want to be considered all one people with them. My friends, when you go back to the Great father, I wish you to tell him to send us goods, to send us yokes of oxen and give us wagons, so we can earn money by hauling goods from the railroad.

This seems to me to be a very hard day. Half of our country is at war, and we have come upon very difficult times. This war did not spring up here in our land. It was brought upon us by the children of the Great Father, who came to take our land from us without price, and who do a great many evil things. The Great Father and his children are to blame for this trouble. We have here a storehouse to hold provisions, but the Great Father sends us very little provisions to put in our storehouse; and when our people become displeased with our provisions, and have gone north to hunt, the children of the Great Father are fighting them. It has been our wish to live here peaceably, but the Great Father has filled it with soldiers, who think only of our death. Some of our people who have gone from here in order that they may change and others who have gone north to hunt have been attacked by soldiers from this direction, and when they have gone north they have been attacked by soldiers from other directions. Even now when they are willing to come back, the soldiers stand between them and keep them from coming home. It seems to me that there is a better way than this when people come to trouble. It is better for both parties to come together without arms, talk it over, and find some peaceful way to settle it. You have mentioned to me two countries. The Missouri river country I know. When we were there we had a great deal of trouble. I left one hundred of my people buried there. The other country I have never seen, but I agree to go and look at it with fifty of my young men. When this trouble commenced the Great Father stopped the sale of ammunition, which cause great suffering to my people. Notwithstanding, we are all sincere to do what is good for our people.

My friend, (pointing to General Van Devere), you are a wise man. When you were here last Spring you told me you would help me. I want you to do it.

Swift-Bear then said: They wanted to consider the matter until to-morrow.

The popositions were read for the second time and interpreted, and the Council adjourned until morning.

The Treaty Concluded.

SPOTTED TAIL AGENCY, Nebraska, September 23d, via Sidney Nebraska, September 26th.—A treaty with the Indians of this agency was concluded this evening after three hours council. Spotted Tail made another lengthy speech, in which he insisted upon going down to the Indian Territory first, to look at the country, then go to Washington, talk with the Great Father, and he and the Great Father touch the pen at the same time. He also wished to delay the signing the treaty until the present difficulty was satisfactorily settled. He said: "I wish to have two men to help me. One is the chief minister (pointing to Bishop Whipple), the other is Rev. Mr. Hinman, to settle the matter. You have the words of the Great Spirit and you try to live according to his will. You know this war trouble does not please the Great Spirit, and I want you to help me rub it out."

Baptiste Good said: A white minister (Episcopalian) has come here to teach us, but I do not think it is done properly. I would like to have some female ministers come, dressed in black clothes, to receive the girls in one house and to teach them; and have white male ministers in black hats and coats to take the boys to another house to teach them properly. I want to take the names of the things sent to us, and when they come to see that they are all there.

"Blue Teeth," Spotted Tail's father-in-law, wanted to know who was the one who was to carry the word to the Great Father, and upon Solicitor-General Gaylord being pointed out, handed him a handsomely decorated pipe and tobacco pouch which he said the Great Spirit had given him. He told Gaylord to present it to the Great Father at Washington as from a man he heard speak at the Council, and ask the Great Father to be merciful to the Indians, and pity them and keep them; to let them remain in their own country.

Speeches were made by several other Indians and by Judge Gaylord and Colonel Boone and Bishop Whipple, but the Indians were undecided when Spotted Tail arose and left the Council room. While outside, E. W. Raymond, white man, living with Spotted Tail's people for the last twenty-seven years, told him that if he didn't sign the treaty Red Cloud would get ahead of him and derive all the advantages to be had from the treaty.

Raymond then went to Red Cloud and Red Dog, of the Red Cloud Agency, who were outside the council room, and told to go in and urge Spotted Tail and his people to sign. They did so and made short but effective speeches, and then withdrew. Hereupon Two Strikes said: We are afraid to touch the pen and are silent before you because we have been deceived so many times before. If we knew the words you tell us were true we would be willing to sign every day.

White Leaguers Murdering Negroes in the South.

Serious Charges Against Anthony Candidate for Governor of Kansas.

Murders by White Leaguers in Mississippi and South Carolina.

CHICAGO, September 25th.—The Tribune's Washington special says the Republican Congressional Committee to-day received the following dispatch:

ABERDEEN, (Miss.) September 24th. A Republican meeting in in Oktibbeha county was broken up last night, and four negroes killed and several wounded by Democrats.

An entirely reliable person signs the dispatch. The county alluded to is strongly Republican and the disturbance is interpreted here as an indication of the White Leaguers to intimidate the colored men and carry the State at all hazards.

District Attorney Walter of Mississippi has telegraphed to Attorney-General Taft as follows:

At Manning and [illegible], members for Congress, were about giving out nineteenth joint discussion to-day a white man cudgelled a negro and the whites opened fire on a large colored squad in the audience. Five colored men and two whites are reported killed. After the shooting I offered to speak, but declared I should [illegible] Democratic violence. The officers then advised the crowd to disperse, and they did so.

This affair occurred some time ago, but the details were suppressed and have just reached here. District Attorney Walter declares that the attack was unprovoked and unjustifiable.

WASHINGTON, September 26th.—News from South Carolina gives horrible details of the operations of white leaguers against negroes. Butler, a brother of the hero of the Hamburg massacre, is the leader of a band of whites who patrol the county killing negroes when found. Within a few days he has [illegible] a train, taken colored members of the Legislature from it and shot them.

Taft's Instructions to [illegible].

WASHINGTON, September 26th.—Judge Taft says privately, concerning the criticisms on his recent instructions to Marshals, that the instructions are founded on the statute applicable to Federal elections, and are not in conflict with decisions of the Supreme Court; that they are plainly sustained by all decisions and precedents.

Serious Charges against Anthony, Candidate for Governor of Kansas.

LEAVENWORTH, September 26th.—The Republican State Central Committee meet in Topeka to-morrow to consider certain charges against George T. Anthony, candidate for Governor of Kansas; one being that Anthony while Loan Commissioner of the school fund in Orleans County, New York, appropriated part of that fund, and that the Supreme Court of New York rendered judgment against him and his bondsmen in the sum of $9,200, and that this judgment is still unpaid. The records of the court in this matter are here in due form and will be laid before the Committee. Another charge is, that the records of the District Court of the county of Leavenworth show a verdict against Anthony for [illegible] misrepresentations on goods [illegible], and that he failed to pay the same; that judgment was rendered against him for $11,000, and that that judgment is yet unpaid. There are also other matters affecting the personal integrity of Anthony, which will be brought before the Committee.

Political Condition in New York.

NEW YORK, September 26th.—The Anti-Tammany Executive Committee met to-night and appointed a committee to confer with all Democratic organizations on the question of local nominations. A resolution to appoint a committee to confer with Tammany Hall was lost, but a vote being taken as to whether it was desirable to unite with Tammany Hall, it was decided affirmatively.

THE EASTERN WAR.

The Turco-Servian War. Rumors Regarding the Conditions of Peace.

LONDON, September 26th.—A later dispatch from Constantinople announces that the Ambassadors will communicate on Tuesday to the Porte the formal conditions of peace settled by the European Powers, the points of which have previously been reported. Russia has given her assent in principle to these conditions.

A telegram from Belgrade says: Public opinion in Servia is greatly excited over the conditions of peace proposed by the Powers. It is stated that the restoration of the status quo ante bellum in Servia, with only the introduction of local reforms in the Christian provinces of Turkey, would be a fatal blow to those countries. Without actual independence, Servia would be [illegible]. The promised reforms are not likely to be carried out. Peace resting on such conditions would merely [illegible] an inevitable conflict between the Christians and the Turks.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg denies all reports of [illegible] on the part of Russia, and ascribes the rumors to the excited state of the population. The number of volunteers for Servia, however, is daily increasing.

Harmonious Understanding Between Russia and England.

LONDON, September 26th.—The Times Belgrade dispatch says:

People are amazed at the good understanding between Russia and England which they perceive will almost certainly end the hostilities. Russia proposed only one amendment to the English programme, and England adopted it.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 26th.—Necessary instructions in conformity with the decision of the Porte to extend the truce have been sent to Turkish commanders. The report that Austria has not assented to the conditions of peace is denied.

AH, DINNA PUT ME OFF.

An Answer to Claribel's "We'd Better Bide a Wee."

I ken yer folk are failin', lass,
But, gin ye'll tak' my name,
I'll be to them a second son,
An' gie them baith a hame,
My byre is filled wi' guid fat kine,
An' grist o'erflows my trough.
Say, lassie, will ye wed me now?
Ah, dinna put me off!

When they gied us their blessin', Bess,
An' said we might be cried,
'Twas that their lass a lovin' frien'
Should hae when they had died;
The ither lads a' hae their wives,
An' at my waitin, scoff;
Say, lassie, will ye wed me now?
Ah, dinna put me off!

I'll be to them a duteous son,
To ye a husband kind:
Ye munna blame me gin I urge,
For I mun speak my mind;
To ken their daughter has a hame
When they earth's clay shall doff,
Will mak' the auld folk happier:
Sae, dinna put me off!

SAN FRANCISCO BREVITIES.

There are 112 deep-water vessels in port.

Collection day has been postponed until the 29th instant.

The cruise of the Training Ship Jamestown, cost $2,251 70.

The bark Edward May, which sailed for Hongkong on Saturday, carried hence 350 homesick and trade-dollar laden Chinamen.

The cases of Frederick Marriott, charged with libel, were continued in the Police Court yesterday until the 3d of October. F. Marriott, Jr., was arrested yesterday on three charges of libel.

In the Fifteenth District Court, yesterday, the trial of Edward Bittenoender for the murder of his brother, George W. Bittenbender, was begun. His mother is an inmate of an insane asylum in Pennsylvania, and his father committed suicide some years ago.

The new steamship George W. Elder, Captain Francis Conner, on the line between San Francisco and Portland, has already proved to be the fleetest that has ever run on that route. She made the run up in 57½ hours from dock to dock, and her last trip down was made in 59 hours.

The Centennial celebration of the founding of the Mission Dolores, will take place on the 8th of October. Hon. John W. Dwinelle will deliver an address in English, and General Vallejo will do the same in Spanish. Immediately afterwards, the Archbishop, the clergy, and as many of the audience as wish, will return to the Mission for the purpose of laying the foundation-stone of the new Mission church. The old building will not be removed, but care will be taken to preserve it as long as possible as a memorial of the fittest kind, of the planting of Catholicity on this spot, and of the origin of San Francisco.

In consequence of the great demand for freight cars at present and the difficulty the Company finds in supplying the rush, an order has been made permitting shippers to stow fifteen tons in place of ten in box cars and twelve tons on flats.

The grain warehouses here, the aggregate storage capacity of which foots up 20,000 tons, are all packed to the roof. The platforms that surround them are being used for storage temporarily, until some of the shippers obtain cars to move their crop to the water front.

The Democracy are straining every effort in Ohio, with some success, to concentrate the German Catholic vote in Tilden's favor on distinctly sectarian grounds. This, however, reacts, by driving to the other side Protestant Democrats, who are disgusted and alarmed by the attempts to achieve political ends through religious prejudices.

OUT OF EVERY PREMIUM PAID TO A Life Insurance Company, a certain portion of the same is set aside called "premium reserve." In most companies in the United States this premium reserve is forfeited to the company in case of non-payment of premium when due.

The Policies thus forfeited are called Lapsed Policies.

The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Boston, is compelled by Massachusetts law to keep this reserve to the credit of its Lapsed Policies, and continue the policies in full force until this reserve is fully worked out.

This Company now has Policies in force under this law, varying from a few months to over ten years. The New England Life Insurance Company has paid over $115,000 on this coast on policies where the premiums were overdue at the time of the death of the insured.

The Massachusetts non-forfeiture law absolutely guarantees to every policy holder in the New England Mutual that he shall receive an insurance value in full for every dollar that he pays the Company.

This Company was incorporated in 1835, and now has assets of over $14,000,000.

Applications for insurance can be made to any of the licensed agents of the Company.

CHRONIC DISEASES Cured. New paths marked out to Health by that plainest of all books—Plain Home Talk and Medical Common Sense, which contains nearly 1000 pages of original matter as entertaining as a fascinating story. Health and long life made easy for the learned and unlearned. Crammed full of brand new ideas which are cheering to the sick, and interesting and entertaining to those who are fortunate enough to escape disease. It points the reader against the pitfalls of human suffering, and points the way of deliverance to those who are already engulphed. By all means, find out all about it. It is for you! It's author, Dr. E. B. Foote of 120 Lexington Avenue, New York, is consulted by invalids at home and abroad, in person and by letter, and has had the experience of nearly a quarter of a century in the treatment of long standing and difficult diseases of every character; hence his ability to write practical truths for the invalid reader. His consultations are free to the sick everywhere; hence his immense correspondence with the sick all over the globe. You are at liberty to consult the able author of Plain Home Talk and Medical Common Sense. Write to him and you will be struck with his Common Sense. Whatever your malady, you will receive light which will do you good by investing only a postage stamp and writing to Dr. F. We wish to interest you in both the doctor and his inimitable book. The book itself, which gives satisfaction to all who read it, can be had of agents, or of the publishers direct. Plain muslin binding $3.25 in the English or German language. Library binding, in English only, $3.75. Sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of the price. One reader says—"I have found it to be one of the grandest works of the age." Another says—"I would not be without it for twice its cost." A physician writes—"I am thankful that there is one man in America who has the nerve to tell suffering humanity what they want." A lady writes the author and tells him—"I have always felt that you were the physician of the world, from the fact, of your wonderful success and original ideas." We could fill this page with similar testimonials to the author and to the work. Contents table sent free. Send for it.
